RRM CANADA DAILY BRIEF

Key findings:

- RRM Canada did not observe any significant indicators of foreign state-sponsored information manipulation in its monitoring of the broader Canadian digital information ecosystem during the period of September 09.
- RRM Canada assesses the majority of English and French-language content originated from recognizable Canadian news sites.
- A Global Times editorial commented on the CPC's platform in an article titled: "A campaign platform that "almost wants to break diplomatic relations with China"! Is the US about to get another loyal dog?"
  - The author notes that if "the CPC comes to power, its policy is likely to be more hard-line and arbitrary compared to Trudeau's", that "it is not likely to sever diplomatic relations" but would likely "cooperate more actively with the U.S. to contain China at all levels"
  - The author does not urge Canadians of Chinese heritage to vote for a particular candidate or party
  - The editorial does not mention a long-running rumor that O'Toole would "ban WeChat"
- Today Commercial News, a Chinese-Canadian newspaper that publishes the People's Daily overseas edition in Canada, posted a WeChat story that a bill introduced by the CPC's Kenny Chiu would require "all individuals or groups with ties to China" to register as agents of the Chinese government. The story urges users to "spread the word" about Chiu's bill that "suppresses the Chinese community."

On our radar

User engagement with French and English-language online media

- The majority of French and English-language stories shared on Facebook, Twitter and Reddit for September 09 originated from recognizable Canadian, French and Belgian media outlets.
- The topics with the most user engagement for the reporting period include:
  - A Guardian article about old-growth logging protesters at Fairy Creek participating in Canada's "biggest ever act of civil disobedience" received considerable user interest (over 15K engagements). The article was mostly shared by U.S. and U.K.-centric environmental news groups.
  - A number of niche (Rebel Media) and mainstream outlets (Global News) covered the LPC leader's comments to Rebel Media during the Leader's Debate scum.
  - Premier Legault's comments that QC would be better served by a minority government received considerable user interest (over 6.5K engagements).

User engagement with Sinophone online media

- With the exception of a high-engagement editorial from the Global Times, the most-viewed stories on WeChat for September 09 originated from recognizable Chinese-Canadian WeChat news accounts.
- Buyidao, a popular Global Times WeChat account that publishes anonymous editorials, posted an article about CPC leader Erin O'Toole's proposed China policies. The editorial notes:
  - If the "CPC comes to power, its policy is likely to be more hard-line and arbitrary compared to Trudeau's"
  - That if the CPC "of course, is not likely to sever diplomatic relations" but would likely "cooperate more actively with the U.S. to contain China at all levels"
  - The CPC has "its flexible side" and that Stephen Harper dropped his promise to boycott the 2008 summer Olympics, and then went on to visit in China on an "ice-breaking trip"
  - The author does not urge Canadians of Chinese heritage to vote for a particular candidate or party
- Today Commercial News, a Chinese-Canadian newspaper that signed a cooperation agreement with the People's Daily to publish its overseas edition, posted a WeChat story that a bill introduced by the CPC's Kenny Chiu would require "all individuals or groups with ties to China" to register as agents of the Chinese government.
  - The story urges users to "spread the word" about Chiu's bill that "suppresses the Chinese community"
  - In a Business in Vancouver article on September 8, Chiu said a WeChat message that claimed any individual "attending events hosted by the Chinese consul general" would be added to Chiu's proposed Foreign Influence Registry Act"

G7 RRM CANADA
[AD]

- The Today Commercial News article received considerable user interest (4.7K page views) and a number of disparaging comments towards Chiu, including “does anyone know his address? Leave it here” and “race traitor.”
- Canadian WeChat news account York BBS carried a Global Times story that O’Toole and the CPC “almost wants to break diplomatic relations with China.” York BBS credits the quote to a Hill Times interview with Jocelyn Coulon, however, the content of the article is very similar to a September 8 Global Times article.
- The author adds:
  - the CPC’s platform contains “many references that are unacceptable to most Chinese people” including the “idea that China is committing genocide against the Uyghurs” and “greater cooperation with Taiwan”
  - The CPC’s request for China to release the two Michaels is “a challenge to the Chinese people!”

User engagement with Russophone online media

- There were no high-engagement posts from Canadian Russian-language media outlets for the September 08 reporting period
- Topics of interest in global Russian-language media include:
  - RT published a story on Suzy Kies stepping down from the LPC’s Indigenous People’s Commission following an investigation that she lied about her Indigenous ancestry. The article received some user interest (78 total engagements).
  - RT published an op-ed by UK professor Frank Furedi on an Ontario school board’s decision to remove library books that featured racist or controversial content. The article does not mention GE44, and received little user interest (28 total engagements).
