https://twitter.com/kevinrns/status/1175814807146180608 Twitter is Cheating in the Canadian Election. Twitter is arranging with the Liberal Party to put their message in social media timelines unrequested; salting, like planted stories in the Press.	Sept. 22
https://twitter.com/proWesternLocal/status/1175864486865055747 TwitterSupport Any reason why my tweets aren't showing up in #elxn43 or #cdnpoli results? I'm a Canadian trying to participate in the democratic process. Is an American company trying to stop me from doing that? If so, even more concerning than Russian election interference. If TwitterSupport won't offer an explanation/solution, I'll bring this to the attention of CPC MPs. Election interference is a hot topic, and many wld consider a US firm censoring/shadowbanning CDN partisans for expressing conservative views during an elxn to be exactly that. TwitterSupport As I suspected. I'll be discussing this with MPs and Senators. Will be sharing my view that it's time for Canada to regulate Twitter to ensure American moderators aren't interfering in Canadian elections by arbitrarily censoring right-leaning voices.3/	Sept.22

@GretaThunberg admitted she is in Canada today because of the Canadian Federal Election. She is not a Canadian. She is not allowed to vote in this election. She is a FOREIGN SOCIAL MEDIA INFLUENCER and her activities should be monitored by @ElectionsCan_E FOREIGN INTERFERENCE.	Sept. 27

When Swedish teen Greta Thunberg tells reporters, she chose to come to Canada for the Montreal Climate March because "you are having an election", meets with Trudeau, then further urges everyone to "use their right to vote and to pick a candidate that is going to put climate change front and centre in their platforms, and to continually press those in power to adapt their policies and adopt new legislature to save the planet" it is a blatant example of Trudeau finding a way to permit foreign influence to interfere with Canada's sovereignty by influencing the election. After all, it is no coincidence she canceled appearing at a 'Climate Strike' in the USA to be in Montreal (where Trudeau's Federal Electoral District is) instead because, in her own words, "You're having an election." No, this is Trudeau using foreign interference to influence our Sovereign Canadian Federal Election (another example of two sets of rules - One for Trudeau and another for all other Canadians) Excerpt of a smart person.	Sept. 27

Discussion: The International Democratic Union and it's influence on this election. I think this topic is being ignored and I was banned for even mentioning elsewhere it on reddit. More people need to be aware of the massive direct influence the American Republican party has on this election and maybe start asking real questions how a American Citizen who was not remotely qualified for the position was parachuted into the race for Prime Minister of Canada. The more I read about the influence of Republicans and members of the Harper run I.D.U. things are becoming more clear, and more shady. I would like to have a discussion on the subject and maybe collect what we do know so far. For instance Mike Roman is working in some capacity for Scheer. If you look at his history we can see why Scheer is finding dirt that wasn't found the previous election. Scheer asked what role a former Trump operative is playing on his campaign "If an election is worth winning, then there is someone willing to steal it." — Mike Roman, Republican National Committee, and treasurer of the International Democratic Union The Conservative Party of Canada is closely aligned with the U.S. Republican Party, and both are closely associated with the International Democratic Union. A case in point. In March 2012, the CBC reported that 14 Conservative MPs in Canada had signed on with a well-connected Republican company during the 2011 federal election, Front Porch Strategies. The party initially denied any involvement. Roman is also a former employee of the Koch Brothers. According to the New York Times, the billionaire siblings broke up their 25-person opposition research unit in April 2016 as an "efficiency measure." According to Politico, Mike Roman ran that operation. Before it was disbanded, the unit gathered intelligence on liberal political opponents, environmental groups and unions. Roman's job was to oversee opposition research, deep investigations to uncover damaging information on opponents of the Republicans. Roman, who considered himself to be a private investigator, was paid $286,000 in 2016. He has kept a decidedly low profile. The International Democrat Union (IDU) is an international alliance of centre-right to right wing political parties. Headquartered in Munich, Germany, the IDU comprises 73 full and associate members from 63 different countries. It is chaired by Stephen Harper, former Prime Minister of Canada.	Oct. 17
